CHARGED WITH MURDER

EYLER MADE UGLY THREATS BREAKING PUMP HANDLE.

Eyler Did Not Know Miller and Had to Have Him Pointed Out.

According to the evidence produced at the hearing of William Eyler, charged with the murder of Howard Miller, before Justice J. L. Hill on Saturday it looks like a foregone conclusion that William Eyler will be convicted of murder to the first degree and will have to pay the legal penalty with his own life.

Murder is the wilful taking of life with malice aforethought and the very unusual circumstance is presented in the present case of murder of William Eyler not knowing the man he proposed to kill but had to have him pointed out. Mrs. Miller, the wife of the murdered man, testified that she didn't think her husband knew Eyler, and there was plenty of testimony that Eyler did not know Miller until he was pointed out.

The hearing by Justice Hill on Saturday took place at the jail. District Attorney John D. Keith had charge of the proceedings for the Commonwealth and Court Stenographer H. G. Williams took down all the testimony of the witnesses. The information charging murder was made by John Miller, father of murdered man.

The prisoner was present during the hearing. At both morning and afternoon sessions he sat on chair, leaning forward, with his elbows on his knees and hands clasped. His head was bent forward and his eyes on floor. He did not utter his position the entire time. When asked to raise his head for purpose of identification he would raise the head but not look upward. He seemed to realize to some extent his position, as the perspiration stood out on his face though he scarcely moved at any time.

When hearing began Justice Hill asked him whether he had counsel, and he replied "My father and mother said I should have no hearing until they came over. I have no attorney."

During the testimony of first witness he muttered "I know nothing about it. I was drunk, I didn't know anything." When a witness said the pump handle was concealed in an umbrella he was understood to say "I didn't have any umbrella." To some questions of District Attorney he answered "I can't say nothing now." When asked who was with him that day and who pointed Miller out to him he at first said "I won't say" and then concluded "I've got nothing to say." He admitted that he had seen counsel at Frederick and his actions indicated that he had been advised not to talk.

The testimony varied in some respects and was more in detail than given in last issue. Mrs. Howard Miller said her husband had been with her greater part of Memorial Day. They had driven out Baltimore street ahead of the parade. Later they went to Globe and a Mrs. Hawn got in conveyance and drove with Mrs. Miller. The wife thought she had not been absent 20 minutes when told her husband was hurt.

Irvin P. Bortner of Hanover said he went to Globe to get his team to start home and as he was going through passage at rear of bar room he heard a man say "Give me a club and I'll kill the fellow." He positively identified Eyler as man using words. He was there when Eyler took hold of pump handle and broke it. Eyler fell up against Bortner and latter got a scratch on his nose. The witness went out after his team and did not see what followed.

Ernest Leckrone of Waynesboro was in passageway in rear of bar room and saw a man break off the pump handle and heard him say "Where is the fellow? I'll bet $5 no man could whip me now." Mr. Leckrone went out alley door and into first door on alley to office and went up to counter and was telling of incident of the breaking of pump handle and that the man might be dangerous and ought to be looked after when the man appeared in office with pump handle and he saw two of the blows struck.

Clinton Carter of this place, employed at Globe, was in the rear hall way and saw Eyler break off the pump handle and heard him say "Let me get at him, I'll fix him." He testified one of his companions said to Eyler "Don't make a fuss now," to which Eyler responded "I'm going to get him."

Edward F. Menchey was in office with a Baltimore friend. He was near door to bar room and saw Eyler come through door with club in both hands and heard him ask "Where is Howard Miller?" and some one answered "There he is" and Eyler went right up to Miller and struck him down.

Wm. Stout, a witness at Coroner's inquest, again testified that he was a clerk at Globe that day and saw Eyler strike Miller and that he heard a question and answer in effect pointing Miller out to Eyler by some one.

J. B. Starnes and Howard H. Roof, both living on Chambersburg pike about three miles from town, were with Miller in office, the latter trying to make a horse trade with him and both positively testified that some one came into office with Eyler and said to latter before he struck Miller "There stands the fellow."

Just who this party was who came with Eyler into the office has not developed. When his identity has been established it looks as though he will have to answer the very serious charge of being an accessory before the act. Howard Roof said he saw scrap between Howard Miller and Wm. Long in bar room but that it was not Long who followed Eyler into office pointing out Miller.

Two or three of the witnesses testified that the object in hands of Eyler with which he hit Miller on head was an umbrella with pump handle concealed therein, and they think they saw the pump handle drop out of umbrella as Eyler ran back through the bar room. Other witnesses as strongly testified that the object in Eyler's hand was the pump handle. They all unite in saying that he held object with both hands when he struck Miller and that three blows were given, first one on head, second one when Miller had thrown up his hands and was falling and the last one when Miller was on floor with left side of face upward.

When Miller had been knocked to floor, Lewis Ramer took hold of him to lift him up, then with help of Harry Little and some others he was carried first into alley, then placed on cellar door and shortly afterwards removed to back parlor.

The space of time between the act of breaking off the pump handle by Eyler and the striking of Miller is estimated by witnesses as nothing less than five minutes, minutes in which he had time to deliberate, minutes in which he was told by a companion "Don't make any fuss now."

The witnesses examined by District Attorney Keith before Justice Hill were C. C. Seaton of town, J. B. Starnes and Howard H. Roof of Cumberland township, Landlord Wm. Barkdoll, Ernest Leckrone of Waynesboro, Hon. Theodore McAllister and Edward McCleary of town, H. E. Nace and John L. Brown of the Pleasant Hill band, Harry Little of near town, Ed. F. Menchey of town, Thornton Lee of Hunterstown, Wm. Stout and Clinton Carter of town, Edward Keffer of near York Springs, U. M. Appier of Two Taverns, Irvin P. Bortner of Hanover and Mrs. Howard Miller.

On the question whether the men were intoxicated Mrs. Miller said her husband was perfectly sober when he left her. One witness spoke of having heard that Eyler and Long came into town in morning in rather a bad condition. When Wm. Stout met Eyler in the morning he was somewhat under the influence of liquor. The witnesses who saw Eyler break off pump handle, and afterwards strike Miller unite in saying that he did not stagger nor act like a drunken man, that he ran away like a sober man, and that he acted as though he knew what he was doing.

Teachers Elected.

The new School Board of Gettysburg met on last Thursday evening and organized by electing Rev. Dr. T. C. Billheimer President, J. E. Musselman Secretary and Chas. A. Blocher Treasurer. The members of the Board being Edw. M. Bender and J. O. G. Weaver of 1st Ward, Dr. T. C. Billheimer and Edw. S. Faber of 2nd Ward and Chas. A. Blocher and J. Elmer Musselman of 3rd Ward.

The Board re-elected the following teachers and fixed salaries. Wm. I. Book, Supervising Principal, $850 per year, an increase of $50, Helen L. Cope, 1st Assistant in High School, $55 per month, an increase of $5, Rose E. Plank, 2nd Assistant in High School, $45, Anna M. Hake, A Grammar, $50, increase of $5, Lizzie B. Rummel, B Grammar, $45, increase of $5, Jane F. Shields, C Grammar, $40, Ida E. Sheads, A Intermediate, $45, increase of $5, Hattie B. McGrew, B Intermediate, $40, Mary E. White, A Secondary, $30, Sadie A. Schriver, B Secondary, $30, Elmira Ruff, A Primary, $40, and Rachel M. Scott, B Primary, $45, increase of $5.

The only school that was not filled was the Colored School. The teacher of that school has been wonderfully efficient in the management of that school. The colored citizens have re-elected the School Board for years for a colored teacher, and have been told that whenever they could produce a teacher qualified to teach the master would be considered. This year they again made the request and asked the appointment of a graduate of Lincoln University. It was stated that he had a teachers' certificate but same was not produced and Board requested an exhibition of certificate and other information. The question of naming teacher was postponed until a subsequent meeting.

The tax rate for year was fixed, being same as last year, four mills for school purposes and two mills for debt on building.

Craig Shields was reappointed janitor for High Street School.

100 PATTERNS of LAWS, Ballistics and Dimitties all under price at G. W. Weaver & Son.

COMMENCEMENT TIME HERE

DR JOHN WAGNER DELIVERS BACCALAUREATE SERMON

The Call of the Time for Service for Humanity was Theme of Brilliant Address.

The week of all weeks to the college student is here, when he throws books aside in full confidence that he knows enough, to learn afterwards how very little he knows. Commencement week of Gettysburg College marks the close of the 74th year of the existence of college.

Rev. John Wagner, D. D. of Hazleton, a member of the class of '71 and a trustee of the college delivered the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning in the College Church. The seniors, thirty four in number, six of them co-eds, attended in gown and mortar board and a large audience well sprinkled with bright and fresh looking summer gowns listened attentively to the able address, sparkling with thought and good suggestions.

Sermon

The text was part of the 14th verse of 4th chapter of Esther "Who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" It was the question put by Mordecai to Queen Esther that aroused in her a lofty patriotism to go uninvited into the king's presence, which meant death, for the sake of saving the Jews. The question and the act of the Queen had a message for the present occasion.

The graduating class stands at the gates opening into avenues of power, influence and doing good. The advantages received in college ask for increased responsibilities. You stand before the solution of social, political and many other problems which vitally concern humanity. You are living in a great and awful time and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this.

There is a divine plan and purpose for every life. There is a place for every one. No one is sent aimless into the world. Each one is sent by reason of some divine thought and for some useful purpose. The only enjoyment one can find in life is the unfolding of the divine purpose of that life. Around you are hallowed memories. I think I can hear the Sainted Valentine saying that no one is sent into the world on a fool's errand. You must work the work of the one who sent you, that is the message of every life.

Every man can do what he wills but he can do what God wills and whatever this work is is honorable work. The young man must however make a choice and if the call is for something useful he should follow it rather than the making of dollars.

To whom much is given much will be required and a strict adherence to this would bridge the gulf between the fortunate and the miserable. The power of exalted position and mental strength is the use made in helping humanity. A man's life belongs to his race and what God has given belongs to mankind and whoever would be chief among you let him be your servant. Substitute greatness of love for the love of greatness.

The value of life is in the doing good, helping others, blessing others. The highest service is not improving men's physical or mental condition. Those who help most are not those who put new things into our hands but those who awake new impulses and new aspirations in our soul. The service of the elder Stevenson in engineering problems are overshadowed by the life of Robert Louis Stevenson whose message gives courage, a healing and helping hand to mankind. The benefactors are not those who build up brick and marble but the men who bring God into the hearts of mankind.

Addressing the class he asked, Shall you use your power for some purpose worth while. Shall you use your opportunities for the good of your fellowmen. The call of God changed Esther from a light headed girl to a noble woman risking life for the good of humanity. No time is without its call. The world needs help as at no time before. Science gives opportunity, social problems, political purity, shameless betrayal of public trust, capital and labor must be brought together under a common bond, these are some of the calls of to-day.

Add to your knowledge with study and work. There is little chance for a lazy man. Men are dwarfed because men do not use their talents and opportunities. Every one wishes to reform the world but no one thinks of reforming self. One must begin with self, must reform self before they can reform the world and add to the things worth while.

Y. M. C. A. Address.

The services of Y. M. C. A. Association in college church were very happily arranged and proved to be a most interesting feature of the week.

The Glee Club sang the hymns and the club is of such unusual excellence that it is always a treat to hear them. Elmer L. Smith an ex '06 man returning for commencement sang "The

Will be Done." He has a magnificent bass voice.

The exercises were in charge of E. V. Roland, who briefly gave history of Association during the year. The membership was 105. Two departments specially accomplished some good. The Bible Study Department had an enrollment of 80 and average attendance of 50. The missionary department had an enrollment of 20 and two had resolved to become missionaries. The members of Association were conducting 3 Sunday Schools in school houses in country and the weekly services at Almshouse. The association had sent two delegates to State Convention at Washington, Pa., 8 delegates to district convention at Spring Grove and five to Northfield. They had entertained the Presidents of the State Associations and were thankful to people of town for their help. There had been two evangelistic services at college during year. The Y. M. C. A. had been a force for good in college life.

Rev. Clinton E. Walter, D. D. of York was introduced as the speaker of evening and took for his subject a "Study in Character," the creation of character along distinct positive lines. He developed the theme along two views, that of those who stand and cry Lord, Lord and have no inward development and those who build but do not build upon rock. The need of the hour is the bed rock of integrity, the papers and magazines are bringing many phases of it to the attention of the world. A London paper recently asked is their any honesty left in America. The effort to-day, to maintain what is right, is proof of the honesty and integrity of the American people and after the storm of graft and the muck rake is over we will breathe a cleaner and more wholesome air. The investigations show that characters have not been built on stones of honor and integrity, that there has been structural errors in the building.

Conduct and reputation was not to be confounded with character, which was the measure of the man as gauged by the life of the Christ man. The purpose of the character building is not for self. The man most dead to-day is the selfish man, you must look beyond self and build toward good in your relationship with your fellowmen. It matters not how long you live but how you live. The purpose of too many young men is to hoard wealth. If you propose to go into business take the Christ life with you into it, never permit yourself to become a money making machine. The wealth that counts is of the heart and not of the hand.

The real purpose should be the striving after a manhood. Education and culture while good in their place are of minor importance to building the character on the foundation rock of the Christ life, the true ideal, which is the need of the hour in every avenue of life, business, the professions and politics.

The best musical entertainment ever given at College came off Monday evening and will be noticed at length next week, together with the many other events crowded into yesterday and to-day.

A Cheap Piano

Is a worthless piece of furniture after a few years use. It destroys a love for real music and educates and fosters a rag time musical public. The Weaver Piano stands for all that is noble and dignified in piano music. Don't buy a cheap piano if you can afford to buy a Weaver.

NO SPITTING ON PAVEMENTS

SO ORDERED BY THE TOWN COUNCIL BY ORDINANCE.

New Hackmen Ordinance Confining the Hack Soliciting Business to Within Two Feet of Curb.

Town Council meeting on last Friday night was called to order by Pres. Gilbert as soon as a quorum was on hand, six councilmen were present, Culp, Wiernman, Oyler, Hammond, Gilbert and Beck.

Under hearings, counsel for Mrs. J. O. Blocher and J. A. Kepner asked the council to make some disposition of the request of these citizens for sewer accommodations, stating as an additional reason that the Supervisor of Cumberland township had asked Mrs. Blocher to cease use of cess pool across avenue, that borough ordinances prevented the erection of cess pool on her own land. If she was compelled to abandon cess pool in township she would be without any sewerage whatever. When reports of committee were reached, President Gilbert of Sewer Committee stated he had not yet run line for one block along Hay street to determine whether a sewer could be built for use of these parties and that if it could be done he was favorable to giving it.

The ordinance regulating hackmen with veto of Burgess, appearing on second page, was next read. The veto was sustained by votes of all councilmen present.

A new hack ordinance was then presented providing that it shall not be lawful for any hackmen, liverymen, driver, street passenger railway agent, solicitor or employee, automobile chauffeur, employee or owner, but (lefield guide, or owner, manager, runner or employee of any hotel, lodging house or boarding house, or any other person, while soliciting passengers or baggage at or near railroad stations to enter or be upon the platform appurtenant to such stations but shall stand at the curb line of the street and confine themselves to within two feet of said curb line. They shall not, while soliciting passengers or baggage walk with or surround any tourist, traveler or visitor, to the annoyance, or inconvenience of such tourist, traveler or visitor, but shall stand at curb line of the street or within two feet of said curb lines. A violation of these provisions involves a payment of a fine of not less than $2 nor more than $10 and costs for first offense and not less than $5 nor more than $25 for second and every subsequent offense. It is to be duty of policemen to arrest at sight persons violating this ordinance.

The six councilmen present voted in favor of this ordinance. It was thought to cover the objections of the Burgess to the previous ordinance.

An ordinance was presented declaring it to be unlawful for any person to expectorate upon the sidewalks or the floors and passage ways of public buildings, theatres, railroad stations and all other indoor places resorted to by the public and on the floors of all public conveyances. Any person violating this ordinance on conviction shall pay a fine of $1 and costs for each and every offense.

This ordinance carried by a vote of 1 to 5.

The new ordinance fixing tax on cars on street railways was next called up. The company asked that consideration of ordinance be delayed until next regular meeting, and motion to lay on table prevailed.

The Highway Committee was authorized to ask for resignation of Street Superintendent.

The fire plug at Dr. Dickson's corner was reported out of repair and matter was placed in hands of Property Committee.

The secretary was directed to notify Isaac Kauffman, driver of sprinkler, not to use plug in front of Compiler, being in the cement pavement it might get out of order and be difficult to fix, and should be saved for fire purposes alone.

The following pavements were reported and action taken: Frank Blocher to be notified to make new pavement on Lincoln avenue, Jacob Stock to repair curb and Max Dries to repair pavement on Washington street Edward Entler to repair curb on South Washington street, Dr. John A. Swope to repair curb and gutter on York and Stratton streets, John M. Blocher to make new pavement for Nos. 163 and 165 York street and repair curb for 167, Mrs. McGrew to make new pavement at Wiernman's store, McPhersons to repair bad spots in the pavement in front of H. B. Bender's furniture store and Harry Stetson's barber shop, Mrs. Gleason to repair in front of Dilfield liquor store, Baker and Warren to repair curb on Chambersburg street, the borough to fix pavement across alley on Middle street.

Attention was called to drains running into alley north of Middle street and matter was referred to Health Board.

President Gilbert of Sewer Committee reported that sewer in alley at Geo.

Stock's house completed, also on Baltimore Hill, back of Dr. W. H. O'Neal's residence and nearly finished on Washington street. The parts not yet finished was branch at Broad street, on Stratton street and on Carlisle street.

President Gilbert asked that the cobbling taken from Middle street and stored on land of his be removed as a party was going to build on the land. Councilman Hammond stated that cobbling would be put back on street.

President Gilbert stated that he was continually importuned by people for crushed stone and thought the borough ought not to go into business of selling stone. A motion carried that Highway Committee be instructed not to dispose of any stone to any one.

The following bills were ordered paid: Gas Co. $6.44 J. A. Cox, freight 9.07

Some Poor Bookkeeping.

The system of bookkeeping prevailing at the Mus House along certain lines during the last few years of Republican control was a very loose and careless one and developments are leading the present Board of Poor Directors to establish a careful system. The regular books showing the receipt of the appropriations from County Commissioners for Almshouse expenses were carefully and correctly kept, audited and balances accounted for. The same was true of Out Door Relief and other things that came in a regular routine. There were however outside items, such as board of persons in asylum, estates of inmates, sale of land and such items which did not fall into the regular routine, of which there was a very careless bookkeeping. The annual audit was made at the beginning of the year and balances found by the county Auditors were turned over to the incoming Democratic officials. Such accounts however did not contain some of the special items referred to and after the regular auditing there began then a special accounting of such outside items, some being voluntarily turned over and others when attention was called to same. The total so accounted for since settlement of regular accounts now aggregates over $1500. The present Democratic Board deserves the greatest credit for their present efforts not only to help along the accounting but also for their determined efforts to establish a thorough system of book-keeping upon the principle that public funds are those requiring the most rigid book-keeping from public officials.

MARRIAGES.

Engle-Troxell.

At noon of last Wednesday Miss Blanche daughter of Mrs. Mary Troxel and Charles Engle were married at the home of the bride on York street. The wedding ceremony took place in the parlor prettily decorated with ferns and roses. Miss Louise Stahl played Lohengrin's wedding march. The bride was attended by her sister Miss Grace Troxel as maid of honor and Paul Engle brother of groom was best man. Margaret Troxel and Henrietta Engle, sisters of bride and groom were ribbon girls. George Troxel of Lewis town, brother of bride gave her away, Dr. T. J. Barkley performing the ceremony. The bride's gown was of white silk mull over white silk and a veil. A wedding dinner followed the ceremony. The bride received many beautiful presents. The friends of the bride and groom united in making the going away a notable event in their lives. The carriage was decorated with white ribbons and a dodger was put out announcing the start on honeymoon to Baltimore.

Ordinance Vetoed.

Burgess Slaybaugh returned the ordinance regulating the soliciting of passengers and baggage at railroad stations with the following veto:

"I return the above ordinance without approval for the reason that section 4 in my opinion is not constructed in a manner fair to those who are engaged in transporting passengers over the battlefield and who pay a license for this privilege. I am of the opinion that hackmen should not be compelled to 'confine themselves within the length of their respective carriages.' Were this provision to be ordained and enacted many hackmen would be unable to get within speaking distance of tourists on account of the great number thus engaged, and the consternation would be greater than heretofore for the reason that drivers' eager to secure passengers, would crowd together and thus form congestions that would be obnoxious and dangerous.

"The hackmen deserve due consideration at the hands of the borough authorities as through them a handsome sum of money is turned into the treasury annually. Personally I think they should be allowed to leave their teams and solicit passengers from the curb, but not be allowed to impede travel over the pavements or surrounding pedestrians, so as to inconvenience them in the slightest manner.

For the above reasons I return the ordinance unapproved.

E. E. Slaybaugh, Burgess."

Khaki for N. G. P.

Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart said recently that when the National Guard is equipped with the uniforms now being issued for the division encampment at Gettysburg, July 21-28, the Pennsylvania soldiers will be up to the standard of the United States army in arms, uniforms and other paraphernalia.

The new uniforms are of khaki and are an exact copy of the regular army uniform. They are being manufactured and issued from the State Arsenal in Harrisburg, under direction of Adjutant General Stewart and Colonel Richardson, division quartermaster.

Forty-five companies of infantry, nine bands and thirteen hospital corps have already been supplied. The remaining troops will be equipped within forty days.

Eighty-five thousands yards of cloth are used in making of the 10,000 uniforms required for the Pennsylvania Guard.

The blue uniforms will be retained by the troops for winter wear and dress purposes. The men will also retain the equipment of duck uniforms issued after the Spanish-American War for drudgery work about camp.

The original intention had been to purchase the new khaki uniforms direct from the United States Government, but the latter was unable to supply them. Adjutant General Stewart therefore resolved that the state could do the work itself.

Changes From a Fish to a Bird.
The story of the early life, transformation and final death of the Chinese quail is the most remarkable that is found in the ornithological literature of the world. The narrative in all its unreasonableness is found in the story of an Chung, which is the name the Chinese quail is known by when at home in the Flowery Kingdom. Celestial authorities on bird lore declare that no specimen of an Chung was ever known to live a year; that they do not lay eggs, as all other known species of birds do, and, finally, that their progenitor is a shrimp, four jointed worm, which has a red head and a sting on the end of its tail. This queerest of worms, according to the curious legend of an Chung, lays 100 eggs annually. Fifty of these become fish and the other fifty are worms of the same species as the parent. The fish that has come into existence in this curious manner also lays 100 eggs a year. Fifty of these become water serpents, after the image of their parent, and the others become birds of the famed an Chung family. These are changes, or Chinese quails, never breed, and are only brought into existence as above related. We give the above not as a literal fact, but as a specimen of the Chinese idea of causation.

Illustrations as a Stimulus.
We cannot help living in some degree the lives of heroes who are constantly before our minds. Our characters are constantly being modified, shaped and molded by the suggestions which are thus held. The most helpful life stories for the average youth are not the heroic ones, the unaccountable ones, the extraordinary ones, like those of Napoleon, Oliver Cromwell and Julius Caesar. The great stars of the new day are most boys. They advise, but they do not feel that they can imitate them. They like to read their lives, but they do not get the helpfulness and the encouragement from them that they do from reading the lives of these who have started the world so much. It is the triumph of the ordinary ability which is most helpful as an inspiration and encouragement.

The life of Lincoln has been an infinitely greater inspiration to the world than the life of Napoleon or that of Julius Caesar. O. S. March in Success Magazine

RURAL WATER SUPPLY.

The Sanitary Condition Not What It Ought to Be.

When such great sums of money are being expended by city governments that the inhabitants of towns may have a sanitary water supply it seems strange that the supply in rural towns should receive little or no attention. This latter population may seem relatively insignificant, but it comprises about 40,000,000 souls. This means that these 40,000,000 people are drinking the water most available without a thought of its sanitary condition.

These various sources of supply, whether wells, springs or small streams, are similarly unreliable for furnishing drinking water. The statistics of mortality in the country are very inadequate, but even these show that the rural population is not as free from illness as it should be. And though everywhere the rural death rate is lower than the urban death rate, yet the lowering in the country has not been as great as in the city. An examination of typhoid statistics shows that the death rate of other diseases is generally lower in the country than in the city, but the prevalence of typhoid is almost equal to if not greater in the rural districts than in the cities.

Several instances have been reported, which show the rural typhoid rate to be ten times greater than the urban rate for the same district. To particularize, a certain district in central Pennsylvania proves this fact. It is made up of a rural population with 100 inhabitants to the square mile. It is a region of fine farms, wild mountains and woods, country residences and picnic groves. And in this valley there has been as much typhoid fever as in the city of Philadelphia.

Sad as this condition is, there seems to be no remedy for it. The sources of a city water supply are few and the city government easily controls the conditions affecting it. But what can be done when the sources of supply are numbered by the thousands? A mist of money and an army of chemists would not be sufficient to give the same care to the country supply that is given to that of the city.—New York Herald.

SNOWSLIDES OF ROOKIES.

Peaks of Mountains Take Its Toll of Life and Property.

Every year the life of a miner in the high mountain regions is menaced by the avalanche or snowslide, and every year brings its list of casualties and of half-breath escapes. The story of snowslides would fill a book and would be a thrilling, tragic and in some cases a gruesome one.

Men have ridden hundreds of feet on the back of a snowslide and have escaped unhurt. Others have been caught and buried so deep and in such uncertain spots that their bodies have not been discovered until the melting of the snow in the following spring.

Some have been caught as they were walking, but a few steps from the boarding house to the mine, or while emptying a car on the mine dump. Not infrequently men have found themselves temporarily imprisoned by the entrance of the mine being closed by a slide while they were at work and have had to dig their way out.

A Chinese coal miner at one of the Idaho mines stepped outside his kitchen door for a moment and was caught and hurled with the slide 1,000 feet down the hillside and his body was not recovered till the following spring.

Such incidents denote the extreme suddenness, power and velocity of the slide. Little or no warning is given, a roar, a cloud of snow obscuring the sight of the real slide, and in a moment thousands of tons of snow, mingled with trees and debris, are shot down the gulch on the slope of a mountain as from the mouth of a cannon. In a few seconds all is over and the scenery of the little valley is completely changed.—Mines and Minerals.

What a Letter Will Do.

A proofreader, ancient the importance of trifles, read from his notebook these absurd sentences, each made by the omission of a single letter:

"The conflict was dreadful and the enemy was repulsed with great laughter."

"When the president's wife entered the humble sitting room of the miner she was politely offered a hair."

"A man was yesterday arrested on the charge of having eaten a citizen for demanding more than his fare."

"An employee in the service of the government was accused of having stolen a small ox from the mail. The stolen property was found in his vest pocket."

Observation.

An observational man in all his intercourse with society and the world offends and unpunished marks on every person and thing the stamp of pressure of its value and, therefore, knowing that person or thing knows instantly what kind and degree of attention to give it. This is to make something of experience. John Boyer

Trained Poetry.

"I wish to submit a lyric, sir," said the timid young man. "My friends say it's a beauty—really sings itself!" "Humph!" said the old headwaiter. "We couldn't use a poem like that. We want one that, once printed, will remain perfectly quiet and not keep our readers awake by singing itself at all times."

The true strength of every human soul is to be dependent on as many nobles as it can discern and to be dependent upon by as many inferiors as it can touch.

The world which took but six days to make is like to take 6,000 to make out. Brov e

REACH THE SPOT.

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Charles Bierbach, stone contractor, living at 2025 Chestnut St., Erie, Pa., says: "For two years I had kidney trouble, and there was such a severe pain through my loins and limbs that I could not stoop or straighten up without great pain, had difficulty in getting about and was unable to rest at night, arising in the morning tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular and deposited a heavy sediment. Doctors treated me for rheumatism, but failed to help me. I lost all confidence in medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me so quickly and so thoroughly that I gladly made a statement to that effect for publication. This was in 1898, and during the six years which have elapsed I have never known Doan's Kidney Pills to fail."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Bierbach will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

DISFIGURING SKIN HUMOR

Impossible to Get Employment, as Face and Body Were Covered With Itching Sores—Scratched Till Flesh Was Raw—Spent Hundreds of Dollars on Doctors and Hospitals and Grew Worse

CURED BY CUTICURA IN FIVE WEEKS

"Since the year 1894 I have been troubled with a very bad case of eczema which I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to cure, and I went to the hospital, but they failed to cure me and it was getting worse all the time. Five weeks ago my wife bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap, and I am pleased to say that I am now completely cured and well."

"It was impossible for me to get employment, as my face, head, and body were covered with it. The eczema first appeared on the top of my head, and it had worked all the way around down the back of my neck and around to my throat, down my body and around the hips. It itched so I would be obliged to scratch it, and the flesh was raw."

"I would first wash the affected parts with warm water and Cuticura Soap, and then apply Cuticura Ointment and let it remain on all night, and in the morning I would use Cuticura Soap. I am now all well, which all my friends can testify to, and I will be pleased to recommend the Cuticura Remedies to any and all persons who wish a speedy and permanent cure of skin diseases." ## LUTHERAN MINISTER DIES

DR. REPASS, A PROMINENT CLERGYMAN OF ALLENTOWN.

He Was in the Thick of Pickett's Charge at the Battle of Gettysburg.

Rev. Stephen A. Repass, D. D., pastor for twenty years of St. Johns Lutheran church of Allentown, died on June 2 at Allentown in his 68th year. Dr. Repass was born in Wythe Co., Va., and in 1858 entered Roanoke College. When the war broke out in the spring of 1861, he espoused the cause of the section in which he lived and enlisted in the Confederate Army with a company made up of fellow students of Roanoke. He was made captain because of his gallantry. At Manassas Junction he was shot in the groin, the bullet passing clear through the body, coming out at the back. How he recovered is a wonder. At the battle of Gettysburg he participated with his company in Pickett's charge. He nearly reached the grove that the charge was aimed at. In speaking of this charge Repass said that the most vivid impression he retained of that battle was the emotion which thrilled him as he looked down the line of battle, one mile long, that was soon to roll onward, carrying with it the hopes, the prayers, the very edifice of the Confederacy itself, only to sink beneath the crimson tide which swept away the last hope of the South, but left in its wake a record of imperishable fame which shall last as long as the sons of men love courage and valor. At the end of this charge Dr. Repass found himself and his company, now only eight in number, prisoners of war, and by the time he was released the star of the Confederacy had sunk forever on the field of Appomattox.

After the war Dr. Repass entered the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia, and graduated in 1869. For 12 years he had charge of the Theological Seminary of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church South at Salem, Va. In 1885 he went to Allentown.

The Allentown "City Item" among other things says editorially:

"Dr. Repass possessed a keen sense of humor and while he rarely spoke of his experience as a soldier in the Confederate Army, due to an innate sense of modesty which constrained him from speaking about events in which he played so brave and gallant a part, he nevertheless occasionally related to his more intimate friends various anecdotes of that stirring past in his career and one which he took particular joy in relating and which showed his strong sense of humor was when he lay wounded, and as he thought dying, on the battlefield of Manassas Junction.

Shot through and through his body, he was half carried and half led to the rear by a brave and faithful comrade. With his life blood staining the sand, he said he saw a rebel soldier running to the rear, and as he watched that soldier running, he wondered, with the greatest amusement, if any other human being could run faster than that soldier ran. Just then a shell exploded a few feet to the rear of the fast fleeing soldier. For a few minutes a cloud of dust hid the soldier and when that had cleared away and he noticed the added impetus which that shell had given to the speed of the panic-stricken man, he said he realized that never before had the limit of human speed been reached, and with that thought he passed into unconsciousness."

Captain Repass had arrived on the field of Gettysburg with his command on the evening of the second day's fight. His company was on the right of the charging line and had its full complement of men. When he surrendered only six remained. In the Federal army was a soldier by the

DANGER AVERTED.

If a man should cross a deadly snake in his pathway, he would quickly crush it beneath his heel before it could sink its poisonous fangs into his flesh. He would not step out of the way and temporize with the dangerous reptile. And yet how many people are there who temporize with a still more deadly enemy—consumption. Like a silent serpent, it glides along almost unnoticed. First a cold, or sore throat, then a slight cough, then catarrh, then bronchitis, then bleeding from the lungs and finally death. The way to crush out the threatening evil is to fortify the system and purify the blood with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Every weakness and abnormal condition that prevents consumption cured by this non-alcoholic remedy. At the first sign of derangement of stomach, liver and blood, look out! It is only a question of time until the lungs will be attacked through the impure blood, and then the danger will be most deadly. It should be known to every sick person that Dr. E. V. Pierce will give carefully considered, fatherly, professional advice by mail to all who write him at Buffalo, N. Y. No charge or fee of any nature is asked. Many thanks to you."

Mr. Moses E. Brown, of Staibstown, Penn., writes: "Last fall I took a severe cold (the result of wet feet) and this brought on catarrh and bronchitis which lasted all winter, and three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two or three vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets' also were purchased of Dr. Saxe's Cough Remedy. I am now cured. Many thanks to you."

An honest dealer will not try to persuade you to take a worthless substitute in place of the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the sake of a little added profit.

name of Zellner of Allentown. He was stationed near the stone wall, and in all that "hell of death and destruction" he noticed a death, bearded Confederate captain fighting with such reckless courage and dare-devil bravery that the man was indelibly stamped upon his memory. Repass fought his way up to within a few feet of the stone wall in the "bloody angle," and when the Federal soldiers swept over him Zellner saw him no more. Years after, while walking down the main street of that city, he saw a man on the other side of the street, and the minute he saw him he recognized in Rev. Dr. Repass the dashing captain who had charged up to the very mouths of the cannon on the field of Gettysburg years ago.

Because Doctor Repass had been a brave soldier in the Confederate Army the National Guardsmen and Grand Army veterans offered a funeral with military honors. The family declined with thanks, saying such a demonstration would have been contrary to the modest wishes of Doctor Repass.

His Small Bank Account.

Independence is Smith's strong point. He is a young professional man, with only a partly developed income as yet. Once in awhile, perhaps three or four times a month, he gets a check from a client. These checks he deposited in one of the larger banks for a time, but his balance was always merely nominal, and he finally received a hint that he ought to carry at least $500 with the bank. He closed the account, and then began planning how to be a depositor with a small account and yet be under no obligations.

He went to a smaller bank, stated his circumstances frankly and asked what the cashier would consider the cost a month of carrying his account. He was told to come in the next day and, going so, was informed that he could open an account and have a balance or no balance, just as he pleased, for $2 a month. That means $24 a year, but it suited him.

"Now I put in a check when I get one—and draw against it," he says, "and I'm under no obligation to any one. I have as much independence as the fellow who carries a balance running into the thousands. The scheme isn't patented, either."—New York Post.

Man Is Oddly Made.

The established fact that a person's hands or feet are rarely of uniform size is better known than that the two sides of a human's face are never alike. It is a scientific principle that the eyes are out of line in two cases in five, and one eye is said to be stronger than the mate in the ratio of seven to ten persons. As a rule, the right ear is a trifle more elevated than the left. Individuals having fair complexions show the largest percentage of visual defects. One person in fifteen has perfect eyesight. Second may always be more acutely distinguished with one ear than the other. In this connection two are not as good as one. The nails of middle fingers grow the fastest, while those on thumbs are slowest in development. The nails of two fingers never progress with the same rapidity. In more than 50 per cent of people the left leg is shorter than the right one. The bones of an average human make weight twenty pounds; a woman's skeleton scales six pounds lighter.—New York Press.

Surplusage.

Owen Winter, the novelist, was once criticizing the work of a literary beginner. "Now, here," said Mr. Winter, slashing his blue pencil through an entire manuscript page—"there is ardent surplusage and surplusage. In what way do these 400 words help your story? In no way. On the contrary, they hinder. They impede it. These ardent words are mere surplusage, as so many of our spoken words are mere surplusage. They resemble the useless questions that we ask."

"A man stood before a mirror in his room, his face lathered and an open razor in his hand. 'This wife came in. She looked at him and said: 'Are you shaving?' 'The man, a foe to surplusage, replied severely: "'No, I am blocking the kitchen range! Where are you—out driving or at a routine?'"

Health and Live Long.

It has been aptly said that there is not the remotest corner of the inlet of the minute blood vessels of the human body that does not feel some unwelcome from the convulsions occasioned by good hearty laughter. The life principle of the central man is shaken to its innermost depths, sending new tales of life and strength to the surface, thus materially tending to insure good health to the persons who indulge therein. The blood moves more rapidly and conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body as it visits them on that particular mystic journey when the man is laughing from that conveyed at other times. For this reason every good, hearty laugh in which a person indulges tends to lengthen his life, conveying as it does new and distinct stimulus to the vital force.

OUR HEROES.

Now that we've scattered the flowers of May Over the graves of the blue and the gray— Over the graves where the women weep, Over the mounds where the heroes sleep— Now let us turn to the graves of those Who have lived and died in their overclothes. Are they not heroes; have they not died Under their engines, side by side? Have they not stood by throttle and brake And gone down to death for their passenger's sake? 'Alm, undisturbed, be the peaceful repose, Of the men who have died in their overclothes. We would not take from the soldiers' grave Not even the blades of grass that wave, Nor would we ask you to hand us down A single star from the soldier's crown; All honor to them—but forget not those Who have lived and died in their overclothes. When the moon's cold rays grow dim and pale And the lightning leaps o'er the glistening rail When the sharp sleet furrows each eager face, As over the mountains and hills they chase, Ah! dreary indeed are the battles of those Who have fought and fell in their overclothes. 'Twould be sweet to know when we're laid to rest, With our hands folded silently over our breast, That a woman would come to our grave once a year, Bring wreaths of flowers; that a woman's tear Would dampen the dust on the graves of those Who have dared to die in their overclothes. As time flies on with its restless wing, And of noble knights the poets sing, We then shall tell in our feeble way Of the good they have done as we look on their clay, On the tear and storm-stained faces of those Who have gone down to death in their overclothes. —Cy Warran.

Arizona Sights.

Queer things have happened in Arizona. Once upon a time a meteor fell from space and landed upon the top of an Arizona mountain. It was so big that the hole where it buried itself is to-day nearly a mile in diameter, and an eighth of a mile deep, while fragments of the meteor weighing half a ton and less were distributed throughout a radius of eight miles. A mining company is to-day sinking shafts in the mountains for the recovery of the iron contained in the great meteor. We clambered into the crater-like cavity and wondered over its strange formation so long that when we returned to the surface our train was in sight and our station nine miles distant. But although in sight, the train had 30 miles to travel. This is the advantage of the combination of a prairie and a mountain. "Whoop!" It was a wild ride, down steep places, over rocks and through sand, with galloping horses and a springless wagon tossing us about as did Frank Monk the unhappy Greeley. The train made its thirty miles while we made the nine, but we were delivered on time.—Julian A. Dimock in "Recreation" for June.

Ascension Day in Gettysburg.

Rev. Edward McSweeney of Emmitsburg visited Gettysburg on Ascension Day and wrote of his visit in the Baltimore Sun as follows: Having occasion to visit the flourishing village of Gettysburg yesterday, I found to my great surprise that all the principal places of business were closed, and a card in the window stated that this was on account of its being Ascension day. But one fifth of the people of this little town are Catholics and it was not a religious motive that kept the shops shut. It was a social holiday, perhaps a tradition of Catholic days in Germany, whence most of the Gettysburgers derive their ancestry. But think of it! This is a very busy season of the year, and here are many pretty large business houses that let profits go to enjoy a day at fishing. Do you know a parallel to this in the United States? Is it not a wonderful relief amid all the materialism?

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach. Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in our kitchen." Kodol Digests What You Eat. Bottles only $1.00; 6 bottles $5.00; 12 bottles $9.00. Prepared by E. C. DEWITT & CO., CHICAGO. Sold by L. M. BUEHLER. Ask for the 1906 Kodol Almanac and 200 Year Calendar.

DEMO. STATE CONVENTION.

To the Democrats of Pennsylvania:

In pursuance of the requirements of the rules governing the Democratic organization of the State, and the action of the Democratic State Central Committee at its annual meeting held in Harrisburg, on the 18th of March, notice is hereby given that the Democratic State Convention will meet in the Opera House at Harrisburg, Wednesday, June 27, 1906, at 12 o'clock noon. The business to be transacted will be the nomination of One candidate for Governor.

One candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

One candidate for Auditor General.

One candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, and to act upon such other matters, pertaining to the interest and success of the party in Pennsylvania, as may be brought before it.

CHARLES P. DONNELLY,
P. GRAY MEEK,
Chairman.
Secretary

Congressional Situation.

York county Democrats nominated following ticket last week: David P. Klinedinst of York for State Senator; E. Dean Ziegler of York, W. J. McClellan of Warrington, H. W. Ramsey of Delta, and Adam E. Kohr of Hanover for the Legislature, Geo. Gahrting of York for Director of Poor, and I. W. Krebs, of Shrewsbury township for Jury Commissioner.

In the matter of the nomination for Congress, no one was nominated, nor no mention of any one was made in convention or resolutions. The convention selected as congressional conferees, Wm. Epley, ex-Sheriff E. C. Peeling and D. S. Witmer. They were placed in nomination by one of the delegates in the convention representing the interests of H. N. Gitt of Hanover. It is said Mr. Gitt can count upon having the support of the conferees.

Among the resolutions adopted was the following on the congressional situation.

For three consecutive terms this strong Democratic congressional district has elected a Republican to represent or misrepresent it in Congress. At the next election a united Democracy will shake off the yoke of Republicanism that has been imposed upon it by means peculiar to the Republican gang politician, and will return to Congress a Democrat who will obey the constitution and the Ten Commandments, and who believes in both.

By the established rule agreed upon in the last congressional fight, the county making the nomination has four conferees to three from the other county. That the Democratic Convention of York county only selected three delegates is a recognition of the right of Wm. McSherry to the nomination if he will accept the same. The situation has resolved itself to the question whether Mr. McSherry will accept the nomination. Hon. D. F. Lafean will be the nominee of the Republican party.

Republican State Ticket.

The Republican State Convention met at Harrisburg on last Wednesday and under the lash of Boss Penrose in effect declared that the party could not be true to a promise. Col. Louis A. Watres of Scranton was entitled to the nomination because he got out of the way of Pennypacker four years ago upon the understanding that he was to be the next nominee of his party. The party proved itself false to him under orders from the old machine. The boss of the gang Penrose got himself roundly hissed for his perfidy in the convention. It remains to be seen whether the party will not punish a ticket nominated upon a repudiated promise and broken faith.

The ticket nominated according to the dictates of Boss Penrose was following, Edwin S. Stuart of Philadelphia for Governor, Robert S. Murphy of Johnstown for Lieutenant Governor, Robert K. Young of Poga for Auditor General and Henry Houck of Lebanon for Secretary of Internal Affairs. The old machine hiding itself behind names they will try to make the people believe are eminently respectable.

The Adams county Republican delegates make a sorry spectacle of themselves. They were P. M. Bruner of this place and F. M. Miller of New Oxford. They can not be said to be entirely responsible for no doubt they consulted their leaders, Judge S. McC. Scope being a spectator at the convention and Postmaster McIlhenny being in hand.

Any kid on the streets of Harrisburg knew the names on the Penrose stated ticket. If Adams county delegates would have made any attempt to have been true to promises four years old.

Get Rid of Scrofula

Bunches, eruptions, inflammations, soreness of the eyelids and ears, diseases of the bones, rickets, dyspepsia, catarrh, wasting, are only some of the troubles it causes. It is a very active evil, making havoc of the whole system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Radicates it, cures all its manifestations, and builds up the whole system. A cure no substitute.

there might have been some excuse for their actions but when they were willing to be false to those promises with a vote for C. W. Stone for Governor they might as well have fallen in line and swallowed the whole machine ticket, if for no other reason to do the friendly act for the number of Adams County men holding office in Harrisburg, so that if the machine nominees win out they would feel like taking care of Adams County office holders. Perhaps the local machine desire the downfall of the same office holders and the delegates voted against the state to bring this about for they not only did not vote for Stuart for Governor but also jumped the course in ballot for Auditor General, voting for Tom Nelson of Chambersburg as against slated nominee Young.

How to Save Money.

In these times when living expenses have increased from thirty to fifty per cent., it is unusual to hear of a standard remedy being offered at half price. Yet that is the way L. M. Buehler the popular druggist is selling Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of dyspepsia and constipation. In addition to selling a fifty cent bottle, containing a month's treatment of sixty doses, for 25 cents, he gives his personal guarantee with every bottle he sells to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

This unusual offer has brought hundreds of customers to his store in the last few weeks, yet out of the many bottles of Dr. Howard's specific he has sold, but one customer has asked to have the money returned. This was done without any questions, although L. M. Buehler does not think the remedy could have been given a fair trial.

Doctor's bills can be saved by the use of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of dyspepsia and constipation, and by taking advantage of this special half price introductory offer, our readers can save half the regular price of the specific.

Roosevelt May be Here in October.

An invitation has been extended to President Roosevelt to deliver an address before the Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association, which will hold its annual convention at Gettysburg next October. Some time ago the President accepted an invitation to attend the ceremonies incident to the laying of the cornerstone of the new State House at Harrisburg, in October, and the Sabbath School Association desires him to stop at Gettysburg, either en route to or from Harrisburg.

The President expressed appreciation of the invitation, but said he could not make a definite promise to accept at this time. He indicated that he would notify the association at a later date of his decision.

Caution to Piano Buyers.

Ever and anon we hear of people in this section who purchase new pianos, and we take opportunity to say, in view of some peculiar inside information that we possess of the kind of instruments that certain presumably reputable dealers intrude upon confiding buyers, that our sympathies have been with the victims. We are not a piano dealer nor an agent, nor have we any present or prospective returns from an agent's sales, but there is one make of piano now being introduced in Chester that is manufactured at York, Pa., and we know it to be one that is a lasting delight to those who have tested its value. We refer to the famous Weaver piano. Mr. Chas. W. Miller of Lancaster, has been placing a number of the Weaver instruments in Chester homes, and we are gratified to observe that an honest competition has entered this market to press out some of the cheaply-built pianos that are imposed on families through gross and slick talk.

The Citizen, Chester, Pa.

April 7, 1906.

The above item needs no explanation. It speaks for itself and the moral is plain. Make sure of getting the kind of piano that you want, and the worth of your money by dealing direct with the Weaver Organ & Piano Co., Manufacturers, York, Pa. Write to them and they will either send you a catalogue, prices and full particulars or they will send a representative to give you full description of their instruments, prices and terms.

A nice lot of new decorated dinner sets and stock patterns at special prices.

The Allbright Cultivator

This cultivator has been designed to cultivate corn, potatoes, beans, beets, cabbage, etc.

Here is the testimony of a man who has an Allbright cultivator: "My cultivator has proven a success to me. I think there is no better make in the market for handy use and durability. Have used mine six years; have not had one cent's worth of expense. Plant corn and potatoes from 10 to 20 acres every year and work it from three to five times. Would not trade for some of the new ones that my neighbors have and half the price of theirs to boot. Can set mine any depth I would desire it to run. Very much pleased with the machine."

We guarantee this cultivator to be superior in every way to any other cultivator sold in Adams county.

WESTERN MARYLAND PLANS

BIG RAILROAD SHOPS TO BE BUILT IN HAGERSTOWN.

Machine Shop, Boiler and Engine House and Blacksmith Shop.

Plans for extensive repair shops of the W. M. R. R., to be erected at Hagerstown, have been decided on. A machine and erecting shop, a boiler and engine house and a blacksmith shop will comprise the buildings. Bids are being received by the railroad company from contractors for the construction of the shops. It is expected to have the buildings erected and equipped by September 1st.

The machine and erecting shops will be 240 feet long and 100 feet wide. They will be constructed of brick and steel. Repairs of engines and cars will be made in these shops. A large force of men will be employed.

The boiler and engine house will be of brick, 30 feet wide and 50 feet long, and provided with engine pits 36 feet long. A transfer table on the outside will be operated by electricity. The blacksmith shop will be 50 feet wide and 80 feet long and will be built near the other two shops.

Signals on Rural Boxes.

The Post Office Department have issued following rules for signals to be placed on all rural boxes. It will greatly facilitate the service if every one goes to work to see how thoroughly the rules can be observed. Unnecessary opening of boxes will get the carrier late to your neighbor.

1.—On and after July 1, 1906, patrons of the rural delivery service will be required to display signals on their boxes when they leave mail in them for carriers to collect, as, after that date, carriers, when serving their route will not be required to open and examine any mail boxes except those to which they have mail to deliver and those on which signals are displayed to indicate there is mail for carriers to collect.

2.—Those patrons whose boxes are not provided with signals must attach thereto some device which, when displayed will plainly show passing carriers there is mail to be collected. It is not necessary that such device shall be either complicated or costly; a very simple arrangement will answer the purpose.

3.—Carriers must lower the signals on boxes after making collections provided no mail is left therein, and must display the signals when they deposit mail for patrons, unless the patrons have made request to the contrary.

4.—The carriers must be instructed to promptly inform patrons of their routes with regard to this order, and you should, without expense to the Department, use such other necessary means for informing them as will secure a complete understanding and full compliance by all patrons on the date mentioned.

Life.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not live, but exist: for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run down or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more abounding. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

Pen-Mar Reunions.

The Committee in charge of Pen-Mar Presbyterian reunion this year have decided to have only one orator instead of three as has been the custom. Rev. Dr. Wishart of Pittsburg has been selected to make address this year.

The program for Lutheran Pen-Mar Reunion on July 26 provides for following addresses: "Martin Luther in the Home", Rev. Charles Steck, Frederick, Md.

"Martin Luther in the University", Rev. William Dunbar, Baltimore.

"Martin Luther in the Pulpit", Rev. E. D. Weigle, Mechanicsburg.

New County Directory.

The Stonebraker Printing Co., of Hanover, has in preparation a directory of Hanover and Adams Co. The Adams County section contains all the boroughs in the county, with the R. F. D. routes running out of or through each borough, as well as all the R. F. D. Routes out of Hanover. The work is being done through a house canvass, commencing with the head of the house and his wife, and all the members of age, as well as those under age having a trade or occupation.

The entire work in connection with the new directory, such as printing and binding, will be done in Hanover and promises to be thorough and attractive.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. People's Drug Store.

The supervisors of Menallen township have bought two road scrapers. W. R. WARD, of Dyersburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup for chronic constipation, and it has proven, without a doubt, to be a thorough, practical remedy for this trouble, and it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference." #### A HEROIC BATTLE.

The Enemy Was the Sea, and the Colored Troops Won.

No engagement of the civil war was carried on with more heroism and endurance than that fought by the Forty-ninth United States colored troops after hostilities were over. The Magazine of American History contains an account of the tussle in which the black soldiers bore themselves so bravely. The steamer Merrimac, loaded with cotton, left New Orleans for New York carrying, besides her regular passengers, thirty officers and 900 colored privates.

For several days all went well. Then the vessel sprung a leak, fires were damped and the alarm spread. It was found that the iron supply pipe through which the water for the condenser was taken from the sea was broken, and the place of leakage could not be reached. The passengers were panic stricken. One small, fat German went about wringing his hands and crying:

"Ach, we are at the bottom of the sea! If we gets back to New Orleans will they gill me pack my monish?"

The water gained fast. The only hope lay in keeping afloat until a vessel could be sighted. The colored troops were pressed into service and proved themselves the heroes of the occasion. A line of men was established from the hold to the deck, and buckets were passed as rapidly as hands could move. On deck another line stopped back and forth with well trained military tread. The work below was most exhausting. The men at the bottom could not hold their position more than three minutes at a time. They were blinded and half strangled by the swashing sea water and bruised by the lumps of coal which dashed about.

But no one faltered, and high above the noise rose the clear, sweet voices of the workers, now singing an army song, now a cheery negro melody. The music brought new hope to the hearts of the passengers. Hour after hour the men worked and sang, and the sea did not gain on them.

Two days passed, and the drinking water gave out. Then they could no longer sing, and their parched throats were eased only by a scanty supply of oranges and lemons, but still they worked. On the third day the lights of a steamer were seen only half a mile away. Rockets were sent up, and with great difficulty, on account of her wet condition, a gun was fired. To the dismay of all, the steamer passed on. Quickly the soldiers formed a line once more, and the wearisome labor began again.

After sixty-five hours of bucket passing a steamer was sighted which responded to the call for help, and the waterlogged Merrimac was towed into harbor.

The men who had sung so cheerily in the midst of hard labor and in the face of death were thoroughly exhausted, but they had not lost their light hearted gaiety.

Child's View of Art.

A lover of rare old china had a collection that was the envy of her visitors. One day a little girl came with her mother for a call, and, being seated in the living room, wonderfully eyed the array of antique dishes. The hostess was much pleased at the child's efficient admiration of her treasures and said, "Well, my dear, what do you think of my china?" The child looked up, and pity was in her eyes as she asked, "Hasn't you got any-pentry?"

Not Watched.

Following the Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at all druggists. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

ABBOTTSTOWN has granted the Pennsylvania Telephone Co. the right to erect poles in that borough.

Deadly Serpent Bites

are as common in India as are stomach and liver disorders with us. For the latter however there is a sure remedy: Electric Bitters; the great restorative medicine, of which S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "They restored my wife to perfect health, after years of suffering with dyspepsia and a chronically torpid liver." Electric Bitters cure chills and fever, malaria, biliousness, lame back, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. Sold on guarantee by all druggists. Price 50c.

D. A. MILLER has given up his job as bartender at Hotel Hanover and is back in Abbottstown.

Death from Lockjaw

never follows an injury dressed with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Its antiseptic and healing properties prevent blood poisoning. Chas. Oswald, merchant, of Rensselaersville, N. Y., writes: "It cured Seth Burch, of this place, of the ugliest sore on his neck I ever saw." Cures Cuts, Wounds, Burns and Sores. 25c. at all druggists.

SPANGLER and Stouffer new firm of carriage builders and repairers of Abbottstown have been kept very busy.

An Alarming Situation

frequently results from neglect of clogged bowels and torpid liver, until constipation becomes chronic. This condition is unknown to those who use Dr. King's New Life Pills; the best and gentlest regulators of Stomach and Bowels. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 25c.

MRS. MANDILLA NITCHMAN of near Bernaduan has secured an original widow's pension of $8 per month and $2 per month for two minor children.

Has No Equal.

I am a user of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters and there is no medicine its equal for chronic constipation, which is my trouble. I also had varicose veins which caused a running sore on my leg, and I could get no help until I began using Baxter's Mandrake Bitters. I soon noticed a change for the better, and after using the Bitters for six months the sore healed and has given me no trouble since.

A Lesson in Health.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system. People's Drug Store.

AN English penny bearing date of 1724 was found in garden of J. McC. Gilbert of New Oxford.

A MAN who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be thankful. Mr. L. C. Rodgers, of Brauchton, Pa., writes that he was not only unable to work, but he couldn't stoop over to tie his own shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made a new man of him. He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure." People's Drug Store.

H. W. RAFFENSPERGER and Wilson Blocher of Bendersville are engaged in bridge building at Atlantic City.

If you will make inquiry it will be a revelation to you how many succumb to kidney or bladder troubles in one form or another. If the patient is not beyond medical aid, Foley's Kidney Cure will cure. It never disappoints. People's Drug Store.

No "Breaking In"

ONE characteristic of the "Queen Quality" Custom Grade Oxfords is their flexible fit. Too many shoes are like the wooden lasts over which they are made—stiff and unyielding. They have to be "broken in." When a shoe is broken to conform to the foot, the original lines must be changed. The shoe thus becomes loose and shapeless. "Queen Quality" Shoes "keep their shape" because they fit perfectly with a flexible fit. The shoe yields to the foot as does a glove to the hand. We have over fifty styles of these superb shoes to show you.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popular "unabridged" dictionary needed in every school and in every part of the country, and that it is the only dictionary of the kind in the country. They are of the opinion that this allegation is not clearly and accurately described, and that it has been reached. The Dictionary, it is now stated, has been thoroughly revised in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular psychological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained. It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition, and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

NAVAL DISCIPLINE.

Punishments That Are Meted Out to British Sailors.
For infraction of regulations some curious punishments are meted out in the English navy. It is an everyday occurrence, says London Tit-Bits, to see half a dozen sailors lined up on deck facing the paint work, holding their hammocks on their shoulders. At first the hammock isn't heavy, but after an hour or so it drags on one's shoulders like lead. Besides, it is not at all entertaining to stare fixedly at a square-foot of painted woodwork for an hour or more at a time.
Another punishment that Jack despises is bailing with a spoon. He is placed upon the deck with two large wooden buckets, one filled with water and the other empty. With a spoon he must dip all the water from one bucket and transfer it to the other, being, meanwhile, the butt of his comrades' jests and jeers.
Sometimes a delinquent is made to walk slowly backward and forward along the deck, nursing in his arms a six inch projectile, weighing a little over 100 pounds. Once a sailor, who laughed at the stammering speech of his commander, was made to stand upon the forebridge, in full view of the ship's crew, and laugh for an hour and a half.
Spitting upon the deck of a man-of-war is strictly prohibited. Cuspidors are placed at intervals along the deck, and these must be used. Upon some ships, when a sailor is caught spitting upon the deck, a small tub is strapped to his chest, and he is made to wear it. Any one who chooses may use this walking receptacle. The offender thus punished rarely repeats his offense.

A POTTERY TOWN.

Chingtschen Is Unlike Any Other Place In China.
For at least 300 years the town Chingtschen, in China, has been devoted to the making of pottery. Everything in Chingtschen belongs to the porcelain and earthenware industry. The houses are for the most part built of fragments either of old kilns or of the fire clay covers to which the porcelain is stacked during firing. The river bank is for miles covered with a deep stratum of broken chinaware and chips of fire clay, and the greater part of the town and several square miles of the surrounding country are built over or composed of a similar deposit.
Chingtschen is unlike anything else in China. The forms, the color, the materials used in the buildings, the atmosphere, are reminiscent of the poorer parts of a civilized industrial center. There are 104 large pottery kilns in the town. The greater part are in use only for a short season in the summer. During this busy season the population of Chingtschen rises to about 400,000 souls, but of this total nearly half are laborers drawn from a wide area of country, who come for the season, live in rows of barracklike sheds and do not bring their families with them.
Visitors to Chingtschen pass along street after street where every shop is occupied by men, women and children, all engaged in the designing, molding, painting or distributing of pottery. The river bank is crowded for three miles by junks either landing material and fuel or shipping the finished product.

Second and Mauder.

Neither mound, a basket, nor mauler, to vilify or grumble, is obsolete. Both are still in common use in South Wales and Leicestershire, at any rate. The former is used only, however, of a particular kind of basket, used for carrying butter to market. The basket is nearly square in shape and has two lids opening from the middle part, where the handle is, and it is called the "butter maul" (mauler). Mauder is usually heard in such sentences as "What are you mauling at?" "A Northumbrian will say, 'He's a mauling old fool,' when the man of whom he is speaking strings words together in a senseless sort of way somewhat akin to mauling."—London Notes and Queries.

The Color of the Eramine.

It is a popular idea that the crime sheds its brown summer coat and that on the approach of winter a covering of snowy white fur takes the place. This was a natural conclusion, as a possibility of a change in the color of the fur had not occurred to scientists. Experiments, however, have been made, and the brown coated crime has been placed in a very low temperature. Almost immediately a change was visible in the color of the fur, and without shedding the creature became snowy white.

Smiles.

There are many kinds of smiles, each having a distinct character. Some are a mixture of sadness and sweetness; others are a mixture of sadness and bitterness; and some are a mixture of sadness and bitterness. The smile is a very important part of human expression, and it is one that is often misunderstood.

I consider it a mark of great pride in a man to abstain from threats or any contemptuous expressions, for neither of these weakens the enemy, but threats make him more cautious, and the other excites his hatred and a desire to revenge himself.—Machiavelli

THE PLAYHOUSE IN THE COPSE

(Original)
"Don't you think, Cuthbert, that it would be nice to make our wedding trip to your old home in the country? You could show me all those places that were familiar to you as a boy, the swimming hole, the two beeches you have so often told me about all out over with names, that little copse with which you played at housekeeping."
"Yes, Rosa, dear, I quite approve of your plan." Then he sat silent and thoughtful. With woman's quick eye she detected a sad memory.
The wedding over, they took a train for the village in which Cuthbert Deane had been born and from which five years before he had gone to seek his fortune in the city. His widowed mother was living on the old place and being averse to travel had declined to be present at the ceremony, saying she would be at home to receive the bridal couple. The first day after their arrival they visited every object Cuthbert had told his wife about, most of them being very much as he had left them, except that some of them had dwindled. The distance from a window in his room to the ground, which used to be very great, now seemed so trivial that he could jump from it without injury; the swimming hole was no bigger than a bath tub. As to the beeches, he could reach their lower branches.
"But the little copse," said Rosa, "the inside of which was fitted up for child's housekeeping—aren't you going to show me that?"
Cuthbert looked serious and said nothing. That he had not changed his expression she might have forgotten all about the copse; as it was her curiosity was excited.
"Well, is there any reason why I should not see it?"
"It is not on this place; it is ten miles away."
"Can't we drive there?"
"We could were it not for the rains which have softened the road. Besides, the copse is on the grounds of one who—" He paused.
"It may have been cut down," she said, seeing that he did not go on.
"No, it is there still."
"How do you know?"
"Please, Rosa, don't talk any more about the copse."
The young wife glanced at her husband inquiringly, then turned the subject.
A few days before their expected departure Cuthbert announced that a matter of business he wished to attend to while at home would necessitate his driving to the county seat. Rosa asked if she could not go with him, but he told her he might be detained overnight and there were no suitable accommodations for her in the place. He kissed her and, jumping into a buggy, drove down the road. Ten minutes later Rosa jumped into another vehicle and followed him.
Cuthbert, after driving awhile, drew up on the edge of a wood where he tethered his horse, then walked toward a house near by in the center of large grounds. He did not enter by the gate, but, creeping, climbed a fence in the rear and proceeded to a clump of tall brush. Going directly to an opening, the location of which he knew exactly, he entered an open space.
A stranger coming upon such a place might have supposed it to be the grave of an Indian girl child, with her play things to amuse her in the Indian's heaven. There were beads, a bracelet and enormous dolls; indeed, the place was furnished as if it were a little house. The brush intertwined above and a ceiling of straw had been tacked to turn the rain. In the center of the space was a grave, but it was the length of an adult. At its head was a stone, on which were the letters:
ALMA,
Aged 14 years and 15 months

THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

Some Facts Which Give an Idea of Its Immensity.

In all the heavens, with the exception of passing meteors or meteorites, not one body occupies a position closer to earth than the moon, which is some 240,000 miles away—very far, of course, side by side with any earthly distance, but a mere fraction side by side with other astronomical distances. Next to the moon our nearest celestial neighbor is Venus, and then Mars. Both Venus and Mars, however, are often farther away from us than the sun, which remains always at some distance about the same distance, roughly at from 93,000,000 to 93,000,000 miles.

This dividing space between sun and earth is of great importance in thinking about the stars, and it should be clearly impressed upon the mind. Next to the sun in point of nearness come the more distant planets—Jupiter, which is about five times as far from the sun as our earth is; Saturn, nearly twice as far as Jupiter; Uranus, nearly three times as far as Saturn. All these planets belong to our sun, all are members of his family, all are part of the solar system. The size of the solar system as a whole, consisting thus of the sun and his planets, including our earth, may be fairly well grasped by any one taking the trouble to master two simple facts. They are these, that our earth is roughly about 92,000,000 miles away from the sun and that Neptune, the outermost planet of the solar system, is nearly thirty times as far distant from the sun as our earth is.—Chambers Journal.

AN ODD BIRD.

The Kiwi of New Zealand Has Some Remarkable Peculiarities.

That queer bird, the kiwi, is a native of New Zealand. Its remarkable peculiarities are, first, the apparent absence of wings, as the plumage so covers the small, rudimentary, stick-like appendage of a wing that none whatever is apparent. The situation of the nostrils at the bill's extremity is a second peculiar feature. While hunting for earthworms it probes the soft ground, making a continual snuffling sound. Thus the scent is evidently of great help in finding food and the reason for the position of the nostrils quite apparent.

A third peculiarity is the very disproportionate size of the egg in comparison to the bird, it being a little less than one-fourth the bird's own weight. One kiwi's egg found weighed fourteen and one-half ounces, while the bird weighed just under four pounds (sixty-four ounces) and was about the size of an ordinary hen.

The plumage of the kiwi is a dull brown streaked with light gray, and the body resembles a miniature hay shock, rather badly backed off at the rear part, as nature has not provided the kiwi with such decoration as a tail. The absence of wings is compensated for by its swiftness of foot, and the large, clumsy looking legs, which are sometimes used as weapons, are placed far back on the oddly shaped body.—St. Nicholas.

That Was All.

A young girl who is always trying some new thing was present once when the doctor set a neighbor's broken arm. She was sure that she knew exactly how it was done and rather anxious to put her new knowledge into practice. Some time later a hen out in the chicken yard broke its leg. The girl directly announced that she meant to set it "and make it as good as new." Accordingly it was put into a plaster cast and left for the proper length of time to knit. When the day came to take off the cast the girl ran out to the henhouse in great eagerness to see the result. Presently there was a scream that brought every member of the family to her side. The chicken was jumping miserably over the ground sideways instead of directly forward. You know a hen's leg has a crook. Well, she had crooked it the wrong way, that was all.

Aliens In Old London.

There is a curious report of the aliens in London in the year 1567. "There being a great increase of foreigners in the city, her majesty ordered the lord mayor to take the name, quality and profession of all strangers residing within the city of London." The list was headed by the "Scots, 40." Other nations were represented by "French, 428; Spaniards and Portuguese, 45; Italians, 114; Dutch, 2,000; Flemings, 44; Bretons, 2; Liguans, 1."

Shed's Tail For Luck.

Attributed to the cunning Jack of the Westwood, a cunning man, there are several tales of a piece of some animal tail that is carried by the holder. This cunning piece of leather is really a superstition. It is said that the best way to get rid of a bad luck is to carry a piece of animal tail. It is said that the best way to get rid of a bad luck is to carry a piece of animal tail. It is said that the best way to get rid of a bad luck is to carry a piece of animal tail.

Different.

"Why don't you stop with her?"
"But, good gracious, man, if you perfectly willing for me to marry my daughter I cannot see any object to be attained by our stopping."
"Can't you? How will it be if I offer you half of what I save on the wedding?" Houston Post.

The Main Point.

"What do you think? That boss politician says he has divorced himself from politics."
"Then I'll bet he secured alimony."—Baltimore American.

Common Sense in an Uncommon Case.

Common sense is what the world calls wisdom.—Coleridge.

ASPER'S ANCIENT CHAIR*CUT HIMSELF ON KNEE WHILE CUTTING HIDE FROM BEEF.*New Buildings and Improvements—Big Cherry Crop—Two Recent Deaths.

Aspers, June 11. Mrs. Elv W. Guise has as a relic an ancient rocking chair whose history can be traced over two and one half centuries. Mrs. Guise removed the chair from seclusion on the attic recently and after giving it a nice painting of different colors placed it as an ornament on her front porch.

Grover Shultz, a young man well known in this section where he had worked for a number of years among the farmers, died at Pittsburg, Pa., on Thursday while he had been employed the last year, from typhoid fever, and was buried from his home near Orrtanna on Sunday. Deceased was an exemplary young man and was well liked wherever known.

DEATH OF GOOD CITIZEN.

East Berlin, June 11.—Cornelius Jacobs of this place died last Thursday morning from an ulcer in the liver, aged 75 years, 2 months and 3 days. He was confined to his bed three weeks. He was born and raised in Paradise township, York Co., close to Jacob's Mill, and was one of our enterprising farmers. Nine years ago he quit farming, moving to this place, building himself a nice home. Funeral on Sunday, services by Rev. Shellheimer of York, interment at Holtzswam church. A. B. Trimmer funeral director, the pall bearers being Wm. Sunday, John E. Zinn, Christian March, Joseph Bowser, Henry Trostle and M. R. Wiley. He is survived by his wife, three sons and one daughter, Charles of Reading township, William of Cleveland, Ohio, Harry at home and Mrs. Clarence Ruff of New Oxford.

Daniel Bushey and son Michael started with a load of 50 bushels of corn and five horse team for the East Berlin Milling Co. When coming down the steep Sunday hill, the young man was on saddle horse and his father was attending to the brake. The brake broke and the horses started to run. The saddle horse fell. The young man says he did not know how he got away unhurt. The tongue chain broke and horse was dragged tearing off a hind hoof. The team stopped before it reached bridge. The saddle horse had to be killed, none of the other horses were hurt.

Letter to John A. Smith,

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: Devoe, $10 a year: lead-and-oil, $22.

Mr. McMullin, late cashier of Patapsco National Bank, of Ellicott City, Md., painted his house—Devoe—in 1885. It wore 17 years at a cost of less than $10 year.

Mr. Harold Hardinge, the present cashier painted his house—three coats lead-and-oil—it wore six years, at a cost of $22 a year. He then repainted Devoe: said he wanted the paint that cost least by the year.

This is important; such comparisons are extremely rare. We know the general fact, however.

The paint that goes farthest, wears longest: always.

Yours truly

F. W. DEVOE &amp; CO.

P. S.—Thos. J. Winebreuner sells our paint.
